

Google Internship Opportunities - EMEA

Positions available across various locations available throughout Europe, Middle East and Africa.

[The role]

Being an intern at Google means you will be a fully integrated member of our business team. You will receive ongoing mentorship and training, and will have a manager assigned to you with whom you'll work closely to identify project goals and professional development opportunities. In addition, you will participate in a structured program of educational and social activities to ensure you have a productive experience at Google that helps you grow both your personal and professional skills. Internships are available in a wide array of business fields such as Marketing, Business Development, Finance, Sales, HR, Legal, Engineering, Technical Solutions, Analytics, and a few more.

[Duration of internship]

Duration, responsibilities and requirements vary depending on the internship. Full details about the various available roles are listed on our dedicated internship homepage: g.co/internsemea

[Start dates]

Start dates vary depending on the position and location.

[How to apply]

1. Please review all of our current open internships via the link: g.co/internsemea
2. Apply online to the position that best suits your skills and experience to date
3. Please ensure you upload your CV and grade transcripts to date

At Google, we don't just accept difference - we celebrate it, we support it, and we thrive on it for the benefit of our employees, our products and our community. Google is proud to be an equal opportunity workplace. Interested to learn more about diversity at Google? Find out more at <http://www.google.com/diversity/>.